

Instructions:

Print and cut out these eggs/activities and stick them back to back. The hide them around your house and/or garden either on their own or with your chocolate eggs. The hunters then seek out the eggs, completing the physical activity as they find it

- To make this easier you could provide clues for each location or suggest they are 'warmer/colder' as they move towards a location
- To make it more challenging you could add an obstacle course, get the hunters to run each egg back to you as they find them or see who can find the most eggs in a specific time
- Why not get the hunters to set their own course and maybe even draw a map of it as we do in orienteering?
- Good luck and have FUN!
